Plans have been completed for the informal Corner Stone Ceremony for the new Lincoln-Way Community high school, which will be held at the site next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25 at 2 o'clock. A large crowd is expected for the exercises, and to inspect the general progress of the construction. Invitations have been sent to all the schools in the district, and to churches in the various communities. These organizations were also invited to provide historical data and other interesting information to be sealed inside the corner stone. Anyone else residing in the area is welcome to bring along any item of interest which should be placed inside the stone.

Invitations have also been extended to the architects, together with the various contractors. In addition, County Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Crackel and Board President, A. H. Krusemark, will be called upon to make a few remarks.

After the brief services, conducted tours will be arranged for those who would like to inspect the building and grounds. They will see that considerable progress has been made during the past few weeks, and that a large part of the building will be inclosed before winter. This will enable the contractors to proceed with a large part of the interior work through the winter months. According to the present schedule, the building should be completed by about June 1. This will provide sufficient time to have it ready for the opening of school next Sept.

Ground was broken on the project last March, and almost one half of the work has been finished.

Frankfort Police
To Crack Down on Traffic Violators

The State of Illinois has two stop signs in the village of Frankfort, one at the corner of Nebraska and White streets, and the other on White street at the junction of Routes 45 and 30.

The state and village officers believe that these are important stop signs, otherwise the signs would not have been so erected. For some time past the police officer of the village of Frankfort have issued warning tickets to motorists who fail to come to a stop, and for there parking and traffic violations. These tickets have been merely warnings, but have nevertheless, created much dissatisfaction among some local residents.

At the village board meeting Monday night this matter came up for discussion again, as it has for the past several months, because of the number of complaints. At the Monday night meeting it was stated that the board members, some of whom are also business men, have been threatened and advised that they either call off this law enforcement or resign their position with the board, or suffer loss of business. This matter was thoroughly discussed at the meeting, and the board unanimously agreed that there will be no change in their policy. They have no intention of making any compromise, and there will be no resignations of board members. In other words, they are "standing pat."

The village board further stated that instead of issuing warning tickets as heretofore they will now issue arrest tickets, which will be turned over at once to the local police magistrate, who will take immediate action.

The Frankfort board feels that this law which has been in effect since 1924 must now, because of greatly increased traffic, be enforced for the protection of the citizenry, and that it is the only thing they can do to keep faith with their electors. It is incumbent on them to do their duty and enforce the law, which is not only their law, but the law of the county and state.

This crackdown will become effective Nov. 1, and Frankfort police officer Martin Goetz has been instructed to enforce these laws. The board finds it difficult to understand why any citizen of Frankfort would want to disregard safety measures which were established for their own protection, and the violation of which might, at some time or other, bring injury or death to perhaps those making the complaints.

The Women's Guild of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church of Frankfort will give a turkey supper on Thursday, November 12. Everyone is invited,

Chicago Title and Trust Representative Talks to Mokena Lions on Making Wills

"If you fail to make a will you are saying in effect that the state is better qualified than yourself to distribute your property," Asa J. Baber of Chicago Title and Trust company told members of the Lions Club of Mokena at a meeting Thursday evening, October 15 at the VFW hall.

In his address Baber said, "If a husband dies without a will, his property will be distributed according to the law of descent of the state. I doubt that there is anyone in the audience who will admit that the state is better qualified to dispose of his assets than he is. If you have no will, someone you wish to exclude may claim a share of property, while another you wish to help may receive little or nothing.

"Such a failure to plan—and it is quite common—could mean that a wife, for example, could be left without enough money in cash to meet final expenses along with taxation. It could result in a forced distribution of an estate with consequent loss.

es," the trust officer pointed out. The speaker told his listeners that wills should be reviewed regularly and revised to take into consideration changing circumstances. When children become older, or the amount of your property has increased or decreased, or other changes have occurred in the family situation, it is often desirable to revise one's will to take these new factors into consideration. Changes in recent years in the tax laws mean that many wills drawn before 1948, for example, are now out of date and significant savings in inheritance and estate taxes can be realized by changes in a will's provisions to take advantage of changes in tax laws.

Baber explained that a lawyer should be consulted in the preparing of a will and he recommended that the many services of a trust company be utilized in planning for the future security of one's family.

He emphasized that safe investment of money, protection of a wife's or children's property from unwise or fraudulent practices, and the competent and impartial service of a trust company as executor of a will or as trustee of an estate, are all advantages that come from utilizing the professional and experienced assistance of a trust company which is staffed with specialists who make such functions their business.

ERICKSON REPORTS MANY FISH IN FOREST PRESERVE LAKES

William N. Erickson, president of the board of Forest Preserve Commissioners, Cook county, announces that several of the preserves lages have recently been found to contain good populations of largemouth black bass, blue-

The forest preserve naturalists, with an electric shocking device and a crew of biologists furnished by the Illinois Department of Conservation, have been making a census of all the preserve waters open to fishing.

The shocker, mounted in a boat merely stuns the fish within a width of about 20 feet, so that they float to the surface to be counted and examined before they recover and swim away.

The 190 acres of water in the Skokie lagoons west of Winnetka and Glencoe, in addition to carp, bullheads and panfish, were found to contain unexpectedly great numbers of big bass up to five pounds as well as innumerable young ones which are growing rapidly.

Saganashkee slough, a 325-acre impoundment between 107th and the Calumet Sag canal, extending west from Willow Springs road was also found to contain many bass of all sizes.

No Liquor Defense

Lesson for October 25, 1953

ON THE SOUTH side of a large sign in front of a Methodist church on a main highway are the words: LIQUOR HAS NO DEFENSE. The church did not invent that expression; it is a quotation from Abraham Lincoln. On the opposite side of the sign, drivers coming the other way see this:

Drink
Drive
Death

Even the companies that make money out of drunkenness (the more liquor, the more profits) know that the north side of the sign is true, and will say so in large paid advertisements. Liquor certainly has no defense as a drink for drivers. But some of the other defenses put up for alcoholic liquor as a beverage that "belongs," that is part of the social scene, do not sound so good when they are taken down and looked at with a cold and sober eye.

Alcohol Is A Drug

The one thing that defenders of alcoholic beverages invariably keep quiet about, is the simple fact that alcohol is a drug, a harmful drug, a habit-forming drug. No amount of advertising can talk that fact out of existence.

That it is a fact, can be witnessed to by anybody—he does not have to be a preacher—who has had to deal with the wretched people at the bottom of the slide that was lubricated with liquor. Alcoholics are sick people; that is a recognized fact; but alcoholism differs from all the other diseases in the book in this one vital thing: No one can say to himself, I refuse to have tuberculosis, I will never have cancer. He may come down with those diseases in spite of his best intentions. But any one may say to himself: I will never be an alcoholic. And he can make that resolution stick, simply by staying away from alcohol. On the other hand, no man or woman who mixes alcohol in his system can ever be quite sure he will not be an alcoholic. No alcoholic ever meant to be one.

Drugs Have No Brakes

Now the trade in alcoholic liquor is legal; trade in other drugs such as heroin, cocaine and similar drugs, is strictly illegal except for medicinal purposes through regular pharmacists, and on doctors' prescriptions. Still there are a great many people who in spite of the difficulties do manage to buy and use these forbidden drugs, and of course there are always the conscienceless people who sell the stuff to the addicts.

But let us suppose we listened to the defenses of ordinary liquor, if applied to other drug habits. How ridiculous they would sound! We are told that the habit of drinking liquor is a long-established American way of life. Well, the taking of cocaine is long-established too. People will buy liquor—legally or illegally; they will buy heroin too in spite of all the laws. People will steal cars, and forge checks—it's been done a long time. But that doesn't make it right.

Or again, consider the pleasure people get out of liquor. Why, of course. They get an even keener pleasure out of shots of other drugs than alcohol. Every time you put a drug addict into a sanitarium you deprive him of his greatest pleasure in life. But that does not make his habit any better. But, it will be said, self-control is the answer; a drug used in moderation is not so harmful as when used to excess. True; but the trouble is, no drug has brakes, and drugs of the kind that alcohol and heroin are, actually weaken self-control instead of making it stronger.

Stuff And Nonsense

The reader can amuse (or horrify) himself by thinking of other antique arguments used to bolster the cause of those who use, or who profit by other men's use of, alcoholic liquors. How do they sound when used in defense of other drug habits? "The illegal drug business gives employment to thousands." "To interfere with this traffic is to interfere with free enterprise—the right of every man to make his living as he sees fit." "To interfere with this traffic is to interfere with men's personal liberty. Even if a man ruins himself with cocaine, it's his own business." SOME folks call this a "growing house"—since the first floor offers a complete two-bedroom living unit, while the upper floor provides space for two future bedrooms and an additional bath.

You will be delighted with the floor plan and the many modern elements which the architect has developed. It is worth seeing . . . worth studying.

So are all the other modern homes in our Weyerhaeuser 4-Square Home Building Service. Each design is the work of a leading architect. Every home is planned to give you greater value on today's market. Blueprints are available. Here is the ideal place to plan your home.

with CA
Tractor and Subsoiler

A reserve of precious water can mean the difference between a bountiful harvest and just an ordinary crop.

The Allis-Chalmers CA Tractor with subsoiler penetrates to a depth of 18 inches and shatters hardpan. This permits more water to accumulate in the subsoil and allows plant roots to penetrate deeper in search of water and plant food.

Low-cost subsoiling with your own equipment is another advantage of owning an Allis-Chalmers CA, WD or WD-45 Tractor. Automatic Traction Booster and low, forward, single hitchpoint give necessary traction for real subsoiling with a wheel tractor.

Ask us to prove it with a field demonstration.

Star Wrestlers To Be At Lockport Hi School Oct. 27
An Australian tag team match full of TNT will bring four of the best wrestling names in the nation to Lockport Oct. 27 for the headliner at the community high school gymnasium. The show will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, featuring Pat O'Connor of New Zealand and Billy Goetz of Fox Lake against Tor Yamato of Japan and Gypsy Joe, originally of New York, but with the labels of six continents on his traveling bags.

This thing is apt to turn into a free for all, as Yamato's dangerous judo holds have been known to turn his bouts into sheer chaos. He has angered both opponents and fans to such extent that police protection has been needed to lead him safely from many auditoriums. Still he was Japan's finest exponent of judo before coming to this country a year ago, and he's hospitalized a dozen U. S. products.
In four short years, O'Connor with his dropkicks and airplane spins has turned into one of the top matmen in the country, sure ly among the most popular on American soil. There are 16 O'Connor fan clubs in existence.
The tag bout will run 60 minutes or two of three falls.

Separate Corp. For Public Service Gas Properties Proposed
Commonwealth Edison Company announced today that it proposes to create a separate corporation to own and operate the gas properties of its Public Service Company division. Application to the Illinois Commerce Commission for the necessary authority will be made in the near future.
Under the program, the Public Service division, which supplies electricity and gas in a both electric and gas in a large suburban and northern Illinois area outside Chicago, would continue its electric operations as at present, while the new gas company would be incorporated as the Northern Illinois Gas Company.
Willis Gale, Edison chairman, said separation of the Public Service gas and electrical operations began many years ago and this further step is a forward looking move for both the company and the public.

"Technical and operating problems of the electric and gas business are entirely different," he said. "Such a segregation would aid in the solution of the problems confronting each of these growing utilities, and would recognize the stature attained by the gas business which has doubled its revenues since 1945. The new company would be the second largest gas utility company in Illinois both in terms of gross revenues and in number of customers.
Further, separation of the gas and electric properties is a natural development to improve the effectiveness of operations and to create a more competitive situation in the best interests of customers and employees. This is also in keeping with recent trends in the utility industry.
"If the separation is carried out, a substantial block, perhaps $80,000,000, of mortgage bonds constituting a lien on the gas properties would be sold to public investors by Edison as the next step in financing its $1,100,000,000 postwar construction program. Upon transfer of the properties, the new gas company would assume the sole obligation on the bonds, which would represent about 50% of the net book value of the gas properties.
Washington, D. C. is located below the Mason-Dixon line. The Washington monument was opened on Oct. 9, 1888.

I SAVED $116.86 ON THE CAR I BOUGHT

"I made over a 50% down payment on a late-model car. I was told it would cost me $257.60 to insure the car and finance the balance of $700.00. Lucky for me I'd talked to a State Farm agent first, because I used the Bank Plan instead and paid an insurance and financing charge of only $140.74. I saved $116.86." (One of many actual cases.)

You'll get more than you expect

In feature after feature, Ford matches the finest . . .

with fine car ride . . . fine-car build . . . and fine-car V-8 GO!

Check these fine car features that are yours when you buy a Ford, the one fine car in the low-price field. You get glass area galore . . . the most in Ford's field. You get more usable inside space than in any other low-priced car. Seats are foam-rubber-cushioned both front and rear. You get such Ford advances as convenient Center-Fill Fueling and suspended clutch and brake pedals. But here are the big reasons why Ford is worth more when you buy it and when you sell it, too!

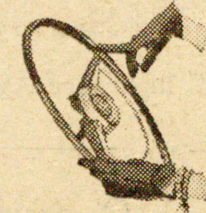

V-8 or Six power

Only Ford in its field offers you a fine-car high-compression V-8 engine . . . the result of Ford's experience building more V-8's than all other makers combined. And Ford's high-compression, low-friction Six is the most modern Six in the industry. Both engines have Ford's exclusive Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last drop of power out of every drop of gasoline.

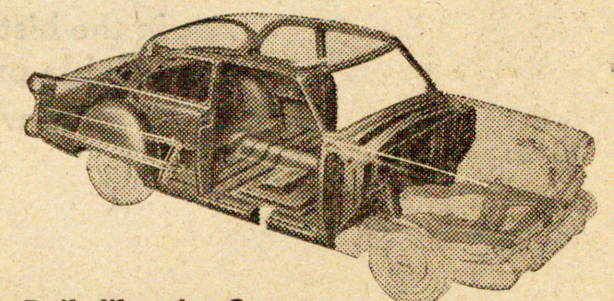

Up to 80% less road shock

Ford has reduced front end road shock (the kind you notice most) up to 80%. And by a perfect teaming-up of rear springs, diagonally-mounted rear shock absorbers and tailored-to-weight front springs, Ford has proved that a car can ride smooth as silk without gas-eating extra weight.

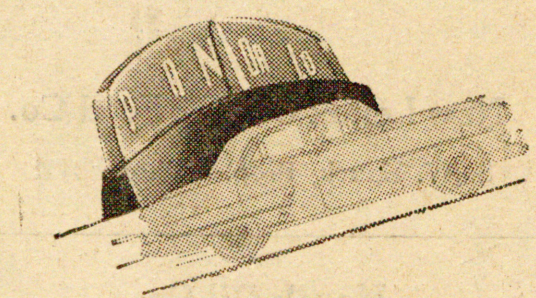

Master-Guide power steering

Ford Master-Guide is the last word in power steering. It does up to 75% of the steering work for you when you need it . . . yet it leaves you with a natural feel of steering on the straight-away. And it helps you control the car on rough, rutted roads. Available on all V-8 models.

Built like the finest

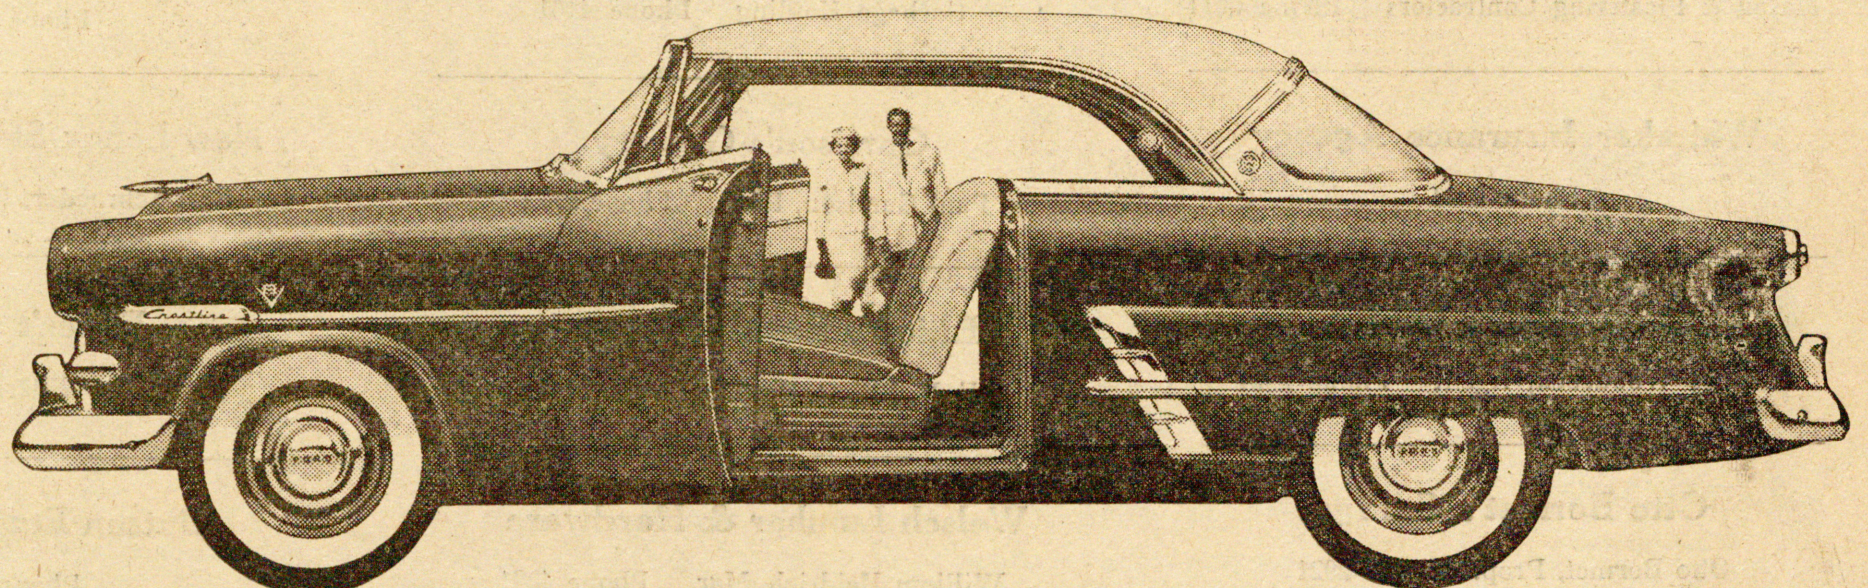

Ford's hull-tight body is sealed against water, dust and draft. Body panels are made of steel of the same quality and thickness as that used in the costliest cars. Ford's rugged box-section frame has five strong cross members including a special K-bar member which adds extra twist resistance . . . gives longer car life.

Fordomatic Drive

It's the finest, most versatile of all automatic drives . . . combines the smoothness of a fluid torque converter and the "Go" of automatic mechanical gears. Ford also offers you Overdrive and Conventional drive.

Room 103. The boys and girls in Room 103 are feeling very proud of themselves that all of their water color paintings have been "hung." Meaning that the paintings are on display in the corridor.

Several children in the group are about to finish the first primer. This means much excitement since they will take the book home and read it to "mommy." It is indeed a fascinating thing to watch a child learning to read!

Room 103 also has an unwelcome visitor in the form of one gray mouse with shiny black eyes. He appears so often the children have taken to calling him Snoopy. He succeeds in keeping the children amused! They have a friendly attitude toward him, not shared by the teacher!

Room 104. We are learning how to spell this year. Our sound cards that we made are helping a great deal with our spelling. We have been reading in our nice new readers about children who like to play guessing games. Tomorrow we are going to finger paint. It will be fun. We have been learning in Science about animals that go to sleep in the winter. We also are learning about Workers Who Help Us. We have learned about the Firemen and Policemen. Our teacher is going to take us to the fire station soon.

Room 107. Room 107 is looking forward to moving into our new room by November 1. We are making plans for decorations and will work on them soon.

We have finished our 'Before We Read' books and are now reading about Dick, Sally, and Jane. We find this much more interesting than just looking at pictures.

Several in our class have missed school because they have been ill. Brian Smothers and Clifford Yaeger missed last week and we were glad to welcome them back Monday.

Room 100. We are glad to welcome Terry Murphy to our school. Terry has spent the past 10 weeks in the hospital. We are happy to know that he is now so much better that he is able to resume his work with us. He will have much to tell us about "going to school in the hospital."

We are sorry that Jerry Redman is on the sick list and hope Barbara Clement and Linda that he will recover quickly. Hazekamp are with us again after spending some time at home with colds.

Some of us have been reading and writing about animals and their homes. We are all studying about the leaves of trees. This is especially of interest to us since there are so many lovely trees about us. It has been interesting to note all the different kinds of leaves that have poured into our room.

Many of the boys and girls have made some excellent pictures about the Cave and Lake People of Long Ago. This is one story that always fascinates all the children.

We celebrated Columbus Day by bringing stories and poems to read; by finding pictures of the kind of boats Columbus used; by bringing to school anything they could find in the papers about Columbus.

Zoning Board Considers Petitions

Aldo J. Lucchesi, 9320 S. Halsted st., petitioned the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals to rezone six acres of land located on the west side of Oak Park ave., 1,000 feet south of 151st street, Bremen township from farming to B-1 business. This was referred to the zoning board of appeals by the public service committee.

Two plats were approved by the public service committee. One was of Croeb's addition to Palos Heights, located on the southeast corner of Harlem ave. and west 125th st. The other plat was a dedication for a public street, located on the northwest corner of west 148th street and Cicero ave., Bremen township. The two plats met the require-

POSSUMS AND PERSIMMONS

by Roberts Mann, Supt. of Conservation, Cook Co. Forest Preserve District

At night, on a big steamboat plowing her way along the river, the roustabouts used to lounge on the bow beck, clogging the buck and wing to banjo music or singing some of the famous Negro folk songs, one of which starts out:

De raccoon up in de 'simmon tree,
Dat 'possum on de groun',
De 'possum say to de racoon:
'Suh!'
'Please shake dem 'simmons down.'

Moonlight hunts, hound dogs, and possums grown fat on persimmons and roasted with sweet potatoes, are justly celebrated in songs and stories about country life down south. In October they sing: "It's 'possum time again!" About when we get our first hard frosts here in the Chicago region, persimmons are ripening in southern Illinois, Indiana and all of Dixieland. They change from hard green things which, if bitten, will pucker your mouth for hours, to yellow orange with a purplish sheen, and finally to a mellow sugar-sweet reddish-orange fruit, over an inch in diameter, which may hang on the tree until midwinter. However, during the last 100 years the stupid slow-moving opossum has gradually spread northward beyond the persimmon country until he has reached the Canadian border.

The opossum is in many ways the strangest of all our native American mammals. Captain John Smith of Jamestown Colony, who gave it its name, Virginia Opossum, wrote one of the first descriptions of it in English: "An Opossum hath a head like a Swine, and a tail like a Rat, and is of the bigness of a cat. Under her belly she hath a bagge, wherein shee lodgeth, carrieth and sucketh her young." The name, which probably was really "possum" preceded by a grunt, is of Algonquian Indian origin and meant "white animal." It has been spelled in many ways and it is now permissible to omit the "o". In 1500 in Brazil, the explorer Pinzon who had been the captain of Columbus' ship, the Nina, caught another kind of opossum which, back to Spain and showed to King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella. In 1679, LaSalle saw his first opossum while portaging with her two young, he carried from the St. Joseph to the Kanakakee in northern Indiana.

Besides the Virginia Opossum,

the only other species found in the United States is the Texas Opossum of Texas and Mexico, but many other kinds live in Central and South America. Millions of years ago these primitive pouched mammals roamed over all the continents but now the only living relatives of the American opossums are found in Australia and nearby islands. The kangaroos, wombats, bandicoots, phalangers, the Tasmanian wolf, and others.

Our opossum has a stout round body, short legs which give it a waddling gait, a pointed snout with stiff sensitive whiskers, and a long, naked scaly tail used in climbing and for carrying nest material. It weighs up to 12 or 15 pounds. The color is usually grayish with dense white underfur and black-tipped outer hairs. The feet, well adapted for climbing, have five toes all bearing strong claws except the "thumb" of the hind foot which is used and makes a print like the human hand. The jet black, beady eyes have no iris. The black ears are thin and naked. When attacked they often "play possum," utterly relaxed and apparently dead, with the tongue lolling out. The 3 to 17 young are born while mere embryos smaller than honeybees but able to crawl to the fur-lined pouch where each clings to a nipple and remains until about the size of a mouse. Then they begin to venture out and take excursions on their mother's back. They cling to her fur—not to her tail, as many believe.

BABSON SAYS—

Copyright—1953—Publishers
Financial Bureau, Inc.

New Boston, N. H., Oct. 15. When William L. Douglas of Brockton, Mass., was the world's largest shoe manufacturer, he was a client of mine. Those were the days when everyone wore high shoes, and he was very much disturbed about the hooks which went on these shoes. At a sales convention he offered a prize of $10,000 to any salesman who would solve the problems of these dangerous hooks. One salesman answered: "Quit making high shoes, and eliminate the hooks altogether. If you will make a line of attractive low shoes, I will sell them or resign." Mr. Douglas accepted this radical wager and produced the line of low shoes, which this salesman quickly sold. Gradually, the whole industry turned to low shoes.

I often visited Thomas A. Edison at his home in New Jersey. At that time his company was manufacturing the only phonograph "records" and these were waxed cylinders. He would say to me that some day flat records would be used; but he could not get any enthusiasm amongst the trade to sell flat records. He said: "Babson, I am only an inventor, and not a salesman. The salesman and advertising agencies will determine the future of America—not we inventors. There are enough inventions in the Patent Office now to make the United States, and in fact, the whole world, prosperous for fifty years if there were enough men with 'guts' and vision to get these ideas working."

Edison reminded me that steam was used for power a hundred years before Watt developed a steam engine. It was discussed by university professors; but no one before had the persistence to sell the idea to the public. This was true of Whitney's invention of the cotton gin, and Fulton's building of the steamboat. I believe that these men were salesmen who saw opportunities, presented them to the public and were never discouraged by anyone saying "no."

My friend, Johnson, who founded the Victor Phonograph Company, was not an inventor, but a salesman. He believed the flat record idea had a future, but he was obliged to travel over the whole country to raise enough money to start the Victor Organization. He used to complain about how "dumb" people were, unwilling to risk even their time, enthusiasm and stick-to-itiveness. His wonderful success was due to the fact that he was a salesman who could not be discouraged and would never take "no" for an answer. He was much like Henry Ford.

Yet even Johnson did not visualize long-playing records. Victor's original records could have been "long playing." The fact that Victor for years sold the old-fashioned records also shows how "dumb" we all are. Another illustration is the zipper. When I was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology fifty years ago an instructor outlined to me the idea of the zipper; but we continued to button up our trousers in the old fashioned way for twenty five years thereafter!

Sunday newspapers today carry many Help Wanted advertisements for "technicians—electronic engineers—mechanics." These are needed today in connection with new government orders. As a result, high school graduates are crowding the colleges for a technical education. To train now for "electronics" is much like buying stocks when the market is at an all time high. It is another illustration of our dumbness.

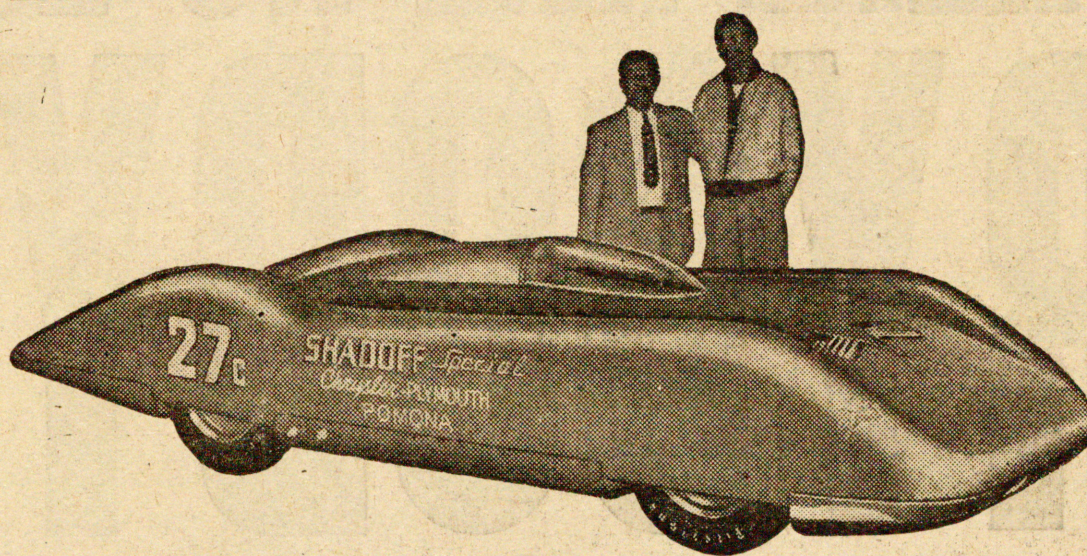

The real opportunities of the next decade will be in connection with selling the new ideas which are now on drawing boards and in test tubes. Hence, were I a young man today, I would take a course in Business Administration. Successful salesmanship, however, is a very difficult and tedious task. It requires great courage and tremendous persistence. There are no opportunities in Business Administration for the pencil pusher or the clock watcher. Success comes not from sitting in a chair dictating letters to a blonde secretary, but by ringing door bells and wearing out shoe leather. Salesmanship offers the greatest opportunities and richest rewards, but the road is long and rocky.

An additional $427,002.42 in delinquent truck license fees for 1952 was collected during September, bringing total collections to $2,299,387.97, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said.

There is still a deficiency of an estimated $10,500,000 remaining to be collected, Secretary Carpenter said. The deficiency represents about 11,000 units licensed under the old mileage-weight system, accounting for about $5,500,000, and 80,000 units licensed under the flat rate, accounting for about $5,000,000, Mr. Carpenter said.

Canned Tomatoes, Tomato Paste Make A Quick Spaghetti Sauce

Nothing beats spaghetti when it comes to mealtime favorites. When you serve it with a spicy tomato meat sauce, it becomes a hearty meal by itself. It used to be thought that a good spaghetti sauce must simmer all day long, but today that work has already been done for you by the expert packers of canned tomatoes and tomato paste. Canned tomatoes are well known carriers of the flavors and spices that make a good spaghetti sauce, and tomato paste supplies the concentrated special flavor of Italian pear tomatoes, so necessary in fine Italian cookery. Here's a delicious Tomato Meat Sauce—and you can make it in a half hour.

Spaghetti with Tomato Meat Sauce
2 tablespoons butter, margarine or olive oil
1 pound ground beef
2 medium onions, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 6-ounce can tomato paste
2 teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
8-ounces spaghetti
Melt butter or heat oil in skillet. Add meat, breaking up into small pieces with a fork. Add onion and garlic and when meat is browned, stir in remaining ingredients except spaghetti. Simmer until sauce is thickened, about 30 minutes. Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Serve with sauce.
YIELD: 6 servings.

Russia Comes Closer

(Editor's Note: Alfred P. Haake Ph. D., is chairman of the Laymen's National Committee and Mayor of Park Ridge, Ill.)

One of the most famous bromides is that, "It cannot happen here."

We could have won the war in Korea, on at least two occasions according to General Van Fleet but our arm chair collectivists and Russian lovers forbade our fighters to take advantage of the opportunities to defeat the communist forces in Korea. "We must not offend Russia," they exclaimed.

A long, abortive effort to bring about a truce several years ago, gave the enemy time to repair and strengthen their military position in Northern Korea, thus adding to our subsequent cost in lives and casualties, and cheating us of the victory we needed.

The recently concluded effort, also long drawn out, finally brought a truce that Russia needed and wanted even more than did we—and on terms favorable to the communist cause.

Now, relieved of our immediate attack in Korea, the Communist Cause is being consolidated and pushed forward with increased vigor and effectiveness in other directions as well.

It is a dangerous prediction to make, but one is constrained to recognize the possibility and even probability that if the policy of containment developed through previous administrations is now continued, the next phase of our war with Russia will be fought on American soil and will cost us terribly more in lives and treasure than the enormous cost already chalked up.

It can happen here—indeed, has already begun to happen here!

The Lenin-Stalin policy of inducing the United States to destroy herself through vacillating and indecisive foreign policy, through dissensions at home, setting articulate agencies and fellows fronts against the very people who should be supported in their efforts to save America, through huge spending, impossible debt, and betrayal of the very principles on which we built our nation—that policy has made alarming progress.

Our own stupidity and gullibility have led us deeper and deeper into the quicksands of communistic inflation and encirclement.

At Yalta we sold an ally down the river and were subsequently rewarded with the loss of that ally, now desperately important to us, and the consequent war in Korea, a war that could have been avoided had we kept faith with nationalist China.

Nations we sought to bind to us with the bakeshesh of the Marshall plan have rewarded us with fear, suspicion and even contempt. It has been said that only in Greece and Turkey have we won the gratitude and cooperation we had hoped to receive elsewhere as well.

We still flounder, as a people, among the alternatives of policy, foreign and domestic, while the momentum of earlier mistakes carries us along. We still hesitate to take steps essential to insure economic survival and strength as a free nation. We seem not to be able to make up our minds whether we really want to be free and pay the price necessary to retain that freedom. We still welcome government doing for us what our individual and community self-respect and fitness for freedom demand we do for ourselves.

Meantime, the communist leaders of Russia, in spite of internal tensions, know exactly what they want and are implacable in pursuing it. They want nothing less than world domination for their godless ideas of government control of individual life, Christianity and other free institutions that stand in the way of that domination are marked for destruction.

The irony is that many of our own people, innocently or otherwise, are sucked into the vortex of the conspiracy under cover of government responsibility for individual welfare of our citizens.

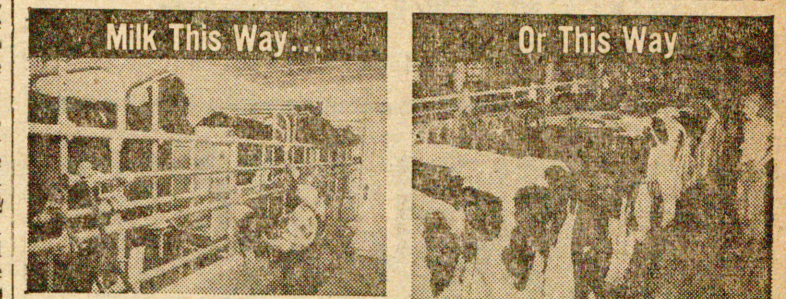

Russia comes closer and closer. The answer to the implacable menace is to implement the principles of Christianity among ourselves and to fight for those principles wherever and whenever they need defending, at once and vigorously.

Less Labor Milks More Cows and Handles More Milk with the Flexible Model F DE LAVAL COMBINE MILKER

INSTALLED IN A SEPARATE MILKING ROOM...
Milking 30-35 cows per hour per operator is common practice in many dairies using the De Laval Combine Milker installed in a separate milking room in connection with either a loose housing or stallion-type barn. Stooling, squatting, walking from cow to can and carrying milk are eliminated.

OR IN YOUR DAIRY BARN OR MILKING SHED
Dairymen are enthusiastic about the wonderfully efficient results obtained with the De Laval Combine Milker installed in the barn or milking shed. One man milks 50 or more cows per hour. The teat cups are moved from cow to cow and the milk is conveyed through sanitary pipe to the milk room.

and Handle Your Milk in Any of These Three Ways

Run Directly into Cans... Most Combine users have installations which automatically filter the milk and fill the 40 qt. cans in the adjacent milk house. Carrying and pouring are eliminated.

Aerate, Cool and Can... In some sections, such as California, the installation is arranged to filter and convey the milk and discharge it over a surface cooler, thence into the 40 qt. cans.

Discharge into Farm Tank... The De Laval Combine discharges the milk into the refrigerated farm tank, from which it is either "canned off" or pumped directly into the milk tank truck.

WHY NOV. 3 ELECTION IS IMPORTANT

The citizens of Cook county have a stake in the Nov. 3 judicial election far greater than either political party, Leslie E. Salter, Republican candidate for the Superior court bench, asserted Friday, Oct. 2, at a meeting of the Park Forest Republican Club, Park Forest, Ill.

"The overall issue is the election of honest, well qualified judges," he said. "As between the two parties, there are two main points of contention: First, the Democrats now hold a monopoly of 82% of the Cook County judiciary, which they would like to increase. The Republicans say this is not a healthy condition and point out that a complete Republican victory Nov. 3 would reduce this Democratic monopoly to only 70%."

"Second, the Republican party favors the Judicial Reform Amendment which would take the election of judges completely out of the field of partisan politics. The Democrats oppose this proposed reform."

"A bill aimed to effect this reform was introduced in the recent session of the legislature. It was sponsored by Gov. Stratton, the Cook County Republican Central committee, the Chicago Bar Association, the Chicago Crime Commission, the Citizens of Greater Chicago, all Chicago Daily Papers, and over 40 civic and church groups interested in good government. The bill passed the senate, but died in the house, where Democratic Representatives from Cook county voted against it as a unit. Each Democratic Senator from Cook county also voted 'No' when the bill passed the Senate."

"This bill proposed that instead of being elected in partisan elections, where the strength of the machine vote was more decisive than their qualifications for judicial office, judges would be appointed by the governor from a list of qualified candidates selected and approved by the bar association and other non-partisan civic agencies."

"At the end of their term, judges so appointed would not be required to run for re-election in a partisan campaign in which they would be under obligation to a political party. Instead they would go before the people on the sole issue of their records, and the people would vote 'yes' or 'no.'"

"If the voters decided against a judge, he would be dropped and a new man appointed from the qualified list. If the vote was 'yes,' he would continue in office for another term, with no pressure on him from any group political or otherwise, and with no incentive or requirement for re-election other than that of convincing the people by his conduct in office that he was a fair, honest, and industrious judge."

"Such a system has proved very successful in other states where it has been tried. The Republican party in Illinois continues to advocate its adoption here. Many civic minded citizens who vote the democratic ticket would like to see our courts removed from political influence. But the Democratic party bosses have their own position in the matter. Their frantic opposition to the bill can be justified on no other basis than that of a machine politician who looks upon the present overwhelming control of the courts in Cook county by the Democratic party as a very important and useful political asset."

"In my opinion," said Salter, "the Republican party is on the side of right in this campaign. The issue of court reform remains alive and victory on November 3rd for the Republican ticket would be an important step toward reform by statute. For that reason, the citizens have a stake in the election far greater than either party."

"The Republicans believe that victory for the Democrats would mean the issue of court reform

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

BABSON SAYS—

In view of my recent column on the importance of Trust Funds for children and others, I must today refer to the recent terrible kidnapping and murder of the six year old son of Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City.

Apparently, Carl Hall, a son of a reputable citizen, was the cause of this frightful crime. Although Carl Hall's father knew that his boy was rather unstable yet he left him $200,000 of property outright. If Carl had been a poor boy and trained to work, the crime might never have occurred. Or, if the father had left his boy, Carl, the money in Trust it probably never would have happened.

Unfortunately, money was left to the Hall boy outright, enabling him to live like a "drunken sailor" as long as it lasted; but when it was gone he was penniless, "left in the gutter." Young Hall could not readjust himself to these changed conditions. He sought to devise a plan to get a fortune for nothing. This kidnapping was his "solution." Hence, the crime, murder, disgrace and grief which came with it. I repeat that if the money had been left in Trust so that the boy received a fair sum from the Bank each month, the crime might not have happened. So much for this.

Now let me discuss Wills, which must come before any Trust Funds can be provided. There are very important reasons for everyone to make and constantly revise a Will. Perhaps your wife may die first, or you both get killed together in an automobile accident. Perhaps some relative of hers (whom you do not like) would get her share of your property. Your wife might cut off one of your children or all of the grandchildren if she married again.

If you have not made a Will you should consult your lawyer tomorrow. First, find out to whom your property would go if you died now. (His answer will surprise you). Second, ask him what could happen to your life's earnings and savings if your wife should marry again. (Could she cut off your own children and relatives?). Third, could one of your own children marry and give or loan her part to her husband to lose in some business or investment? Fourth are you absolutely protecting your grandchildren?

Assume you may die tomorrow and leave, with or without a Will, considerable property to your wife. Your estate might be liable for a heavy tax upon this. Then assume that in a few years your wife should die and your children inherit this money. This could result in a second tax. In fact, without a Will the grandchildren might get very little.

You'd better leave your wife's share, at your death, to a Trust Company in trust for your children and grandchildren, with this provision: So long as your wife lives, she is to have the income. At her death, your children can have the income. When your grandchildren reach a certain age (say 26 years), after the death of your wife and their mother, they are to gradually get the principal, as well as the income.

Have you an aunt or cousin who was very good to you when you were young? These you can remember only by a Will! On the other hand, without a Will your estate could go to distant relatives whom you never knew. Remember you can easily remember these old relatives and friends by adding a simple codicil, which your lawyer can quickly draw. Do it now. Never sign any paper while in your last illness. Be sure the original of your Will and all codicils are in the custody of a bank, with only copies in your home safe or your safety deposit box.

Why not give something to the Church which brought you up, or to some hospital or other charity? You would not live in a community without these. Then you should help them out. You can do it only by making a Will or Codicil. My full name is Roger W. Babson. The "W" really stands for Carl Ward, an old Gloucester fisherman; but when people ask me for what it stands I reply "Will." I wish I could devote the rest of my life to helping people to make Wills and Codicils.

Suburban Water Supply Council to Be Formed

The group of suburban mayors and village presidents called together by President Wm. N. Erickson of the Cook County Board of Commissioners and County Board of Health to work on the suburban water supply problem is to channel its activities along two parallel lines. First and most urgent is to work toward a short range objective of improved supplies for next summer. Second is to determine a long range solution or solutions.

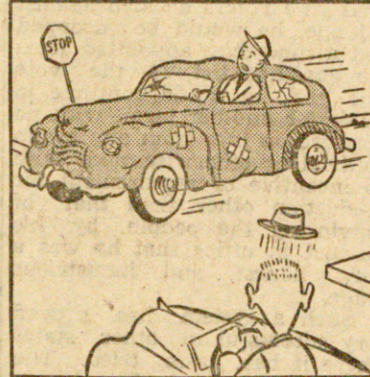

The organization committee of the group representing 23 suburbs at its meeting October 16, agreed to call a second general meeting of suburban officials for Friday evening, November 13, at 8:00 p.m. in the Oak Park Municipal building and will make the following recommendations to it:

1. To work on the short range objective of improved supplies to better meet the needs of next summer, that the present 51 suburbs using Chicago water be divided into five area committees grouped roughly according to the Chicago pumping stations serving them.
2. That each area committee start work immediately, to collectively determine in consultation with suburban and city engineers those improvements that are feasible to start on now.
3. That the municipalities and private water companies in DuPage and near parts of Will and Kane Counties be invited to join with the suburbs of Cook County to work, in cooperation with State and County sanitary engineers, on the long range objective of improved supplies.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Watch for the reckless or incompetent driver when you are driving your own car. It is not difficult usually to identify him in the stream of traffic. His car's fenders are dented, the grill is smashed, the bumpers look as if they were made by a pretzel bender, windows are cracked or broken.

It is possible that driver may just have purchased an old car and is on his way to the repair shop, but it is much more likely that he is the kind of driver who accumulates dented fenders and twisted bumpers the way a prize fighter accumulates cauliflower ears.

He is a good fellow to avoid. Give him plenty of room. If he doesn't turn right from the left hand lane, he will turn left from the right hand lane, disregard a stop sign, fail to stop when the car in front of him does, change lanes without looking back or shoot out of a parking space without signaling or checking oncoming traffic.

He is, as an old saying goes, just an accident looking for a place to happen. You may not be able to prevent him from having his accident, but by keeping out of his way you can prevent him from involving you in it, too.

jective of an ultimate adequate supply of water for the whole suburban area. Lake County is already organized into a water district.

4. That the organization be informal in its setup, have no dues and adopt the name of Suburban Water Supply Council.

5. That following offices and nominations be considered at the general meeting: for President, J. Russell Christianson, President of the Village of Oak Park; for Honorary President, Wm. N. Erickson, President of the Cook County Board of Commissioners and County Board of Health and a resident of Evanston; for secretary, Howard R. Olson, General Manager, Chicago Regional Planning Association; for Chairman of the area committee work, Louis Ancel, Corporation Counsel, Village of Maywood.

County President Wm. N. Erickson expressed satisfaction with the interest and willingness of suburban officials to collectively work on the water supply problem. He said that no one knows yet what plan or plans will prove feasible to meet ultimate needs.

It is expected that the long-range studies will direct attention first toward making an up to date inventory of local water supply sources, capacities and future needs. This will be designed to serve local officials in their water supply planning.

Illinois Farm Taxes Average $2.45 Acre

Are farm land taxes higher than they were before the war? The answer depends upon how you do your figuring. Of course taxes are higher in dollars, but they are now a smaller proportion of the actual value of farm land than they were before World War II.

Illinois farm real estate taxes payable this year average $2.45 an acre. This compares with $2.30 for the previous year and with an average of 98 cents for prewar (1941). These figures are taken from a recent report of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The trend of taxes in relation to land values shows a much different picture. In 1941 taxes on Illinois farm land averaged $1.18 per $100 of full value. The proportion this year is 10 cents less, $1.08 per $100 of full value. Back in 1946 farm land taxes dropped to 82 cents per $100 of full value.

In Illinois most farm real estate taxes are used for schools and roads. Smaller amounts are used for relief and local government services.

For the United States as a whole, farm real estate taxes average 77 cents an acre this year. This compares with 73 cents last year and 39 cents in 1941.

For the entire country, farm real estate taxes this year average 90 cents per $100 of full value. This is up from 84 cents in 1952, but it is down from $1.17 in prewar (1941). Taxes dropped to 76 cents per $100 of value back in 1946.

Looking ahead, it seems probable that farm taxes will increase further in the next few years. Citizens seem likely to ask for more and better services from the agencies supported by property taxes, and costs of providing such services seem likely to increase.

After World War I farm real estate taxes rose for 12 years. The increase was very rapid from 1918 to 1921 and slow from then until 1929.

Since World War II we have had seven years of rapid increase in real estate taxes. Nevertheless, taxes per $100 of full value are lower than they were for any of the years from 1921 to 1942. This situation seems to suggest that the future may bring more pressure for increased support for property-tax-supported services than it does for tax reductions.

After World War I there were no general property tax reductions until the great deflation-depression of 1929-32. Even then taxes were reduced much more slowly than farm land values were cut. In fact, taxes per $100 of full value reached their all-time high in 1933.

Farm real estate taxes are higher in Illinois than in any other state except for a few small, densely populated states in the northeast. Where Illinois farm owners pay $2.45 an acre, taxes in surrounding states are: Iowa, $2.13, Missouri, 59 cents, Indiana, $1.49, Wisconsin, $1.74, and Kentucky, 68 cents.

THE ROAD OF PLANNED PROGRESS

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It's the Principal of the Thing!

Every autumn our High School has a contest to see who can get the most ads for The Recorder—the school magazine. The winner becomes honorary Principal for a day.

Skip Roberts won last week, and his first (and only) official act as "Principal" of the school was to announce in a loud, clear voice: "I hereby declare today a school holiday!"

Knowing Miss Gilbert, the real principal, it was no surprise to me that she laughed as hard as anybody else... and said to go right ahead.

From where I sit, it's no wonder our youngsters think Miss Gilbert's such a wonderful person (even though they know they'll have to make up that day). Her tolerance, her friendly way with people of all ages reflect in everything she does. For instance, at my house Miss Gilbert prefers tea but always respects my preference for a glass of beer. As a real person... in any community, Miss Gilbert belongs at "the head of the class."

God-Planned Homes

Lesson for November 1, 1953

NO Christian home can be found between the covers of the Bible. Naturally there were no Christians before Christ, and the New Testament books were all written so early in our era that what we know as a Christian home could not exist. Jesus himself was brought up in a Jewish home. Timothy had a Jewish mother but a Greek father, and the "faith" that was in his mother and grandmother was not, probably, the faith of Christians. Nobody named in the Bible was married in a Christian church by a Christian minister. We have to say, if we stick to the facts of history, that the Christian home is something that developed out of the Christian faith which the Bible inspires and instructs, rather than something the Bible directly describes.

Law In The Home

The Christian home is not something so radically different from other kinds that it can't be recognized. Among the most primitive races there are homes of a sort. Always there is a mated pair, father and mother, and children more or less under their care. Father and mother (aided often by other members of the tribe) teach the young what they are expected to know. So much is universal.

Dr. Foreman
Now in the Christian home, one special feature marks it off from less developed types: training in religion. This we have inherited from the Hebrews long before us. According to Deuteronomy, the law of God was to be known by the parents and taught by them to the children. This is not simply the Ten Commandments, but the whole management of life under the will of God. Now it should go without saying that if parents try to teach their children what is right, without doing right themselves, failure is certain. Some of the most important matters can be taught only by example. To take one illustration: parents should be the best persons to tell their children what Christian marriage is and how to achieve success in it. But if parents live in constant strife or even break up altogether, then what?

A recent study was made of 12,000 young people. It was discovered that in the homes where they came from, where the parents were both Roman Catholics, only 6.4 per cent of the homes had broken up; where both were Protestants, 6.8 per cent had broken up; where the parents were of different religions, 15.2 per cent were broken; and where there was no religion at all, 16.7 per cent of the homes were broken. What those unsuccessful husbands and wives did about their own marriages will have much more effect on their children than any good advice.

Love In The Home

A good home is much more than a place where everyone behaves correctly and does just as he should. A well-managed penitentiary might be that sort of place too. The great difference between the model penitentiary and the model home is that in one, the good behavior is compulsory, in the other the ruling motive is love. There is no home where love never makes mistakes; none where love is complete and flawless. But where love is, there is hope. Without love, the least differences pile up into unscalable mountains of incompatibility and resentment; where love is, even mountains of difficulty can be brought low.

What the Bible teaches everywhere, especially in the New Testament, is that love, in the home or anywhere, to have its perfect work must not be one-sided. If every member of a home really set out to be the kind of person Paul describes in I Cor. 13 or Eph. 5, break-ups would be seldom indeed. Love ought not to be left to mothers alone!

God's Planning

A Christian home is one where God's plan of love is followed. But God never does for us what we can do for ourselves. We have to plan for our homes just as we do for anything at all that we want to succeed. This should begin early, too, like all good planning. Young people do not always ask the right questions before they fall in love. Fail is the time for cheers, and plenty of them are in praise of the first fine fresh Florida fruit now coming into local markets. Golden grapefruit globes, choicest of tangy flavor, for breakfast halves, thin-skinned juicy oranges perfect for reaming. For the sweet-tooth members of the family, set out the honey jar along with the rest of your tasty breakfast. Here we've a Florida grapefruit half for the waker-upper fruit, Canadian bacon and scrambled eggs, and a wonderful hot bread, Florida Orange Honey Muffins.

Florida Orange Honey Muffins

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons honey
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1/4 cup melted shortening
1/2 cup Florida orange sections
2 tablespoons sugar
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Combine honey, egg, milk and shortening and add all at once to flour mixture; stir only until all the flour is dampened. Fill greased 2 1/2-inch muffin pans 3/4 full. Press an orange section into the top of each and sprinkle with the 2 tablespoons sugar. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. YIELD: 10 to 12 muffins.

Hertha E. Larsen Now Chief of County Public Health Nurses

President William N. Erickson announced the appointment of Hertha E. Larsen, R. N., as Chief of Nursing Division of the Cook County Department of Public Health. Miss Larsen received her basic nursing education at Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago, and her graduate study in public health nursing at Columbia University.

Most recently, Miss Larsen was the Director of the Visiting Nurse Association at Syracuse, New York. Before You Render Lard, Read This!

A formula for doubling the keeping qualities of home rendered lard is given by food specialist Geraldine Acker, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Add two pounds of hydrogenated vegetable shortening to 50 pounds of the fresh lard. These shortenings contain a small amount of naturally occurring antioxidant that slow down the development of rancidity. Be careful to stir the lard and shortening mixture until it is thoroughly blended.

Most likely you will store the rendered fat in five or ten pound cans or pails. Make sure you fill the container as full as possible, because air and light tend to cause rancidity in lard. Then seal with a tight cover and store in a cool, dark place. Commercial packers sometimes add a small amount of a harmless antioxidant to lard to make it keep longer. Your neighborhood locker plants may be able to sell you enough for your home needs.

No Time Now to Sell Beef Cow Herd

A question in the minds of many Illinois beef cow herd owners is whether or not to sell their herds after the recent beef price slump.

G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says the answer to that question lies in another question.

Is your farm plan one that needs a beef cow herd, year after year, to provide a market for roughage that you would not otherwise be able to use?

If your answer to that question is "yes", now is certainly no time for you to get out of the business, because the cows will continue to be a reasonably safe investment and will pay a fair return for the roughage they eat.

On the other hand, if your answer is "no", Carlisle believes that you should never have had a beef herd in the first place, and the sooner you sell off your herd, the better you will be.

A beef cow herd takes several years to build and is a long-time investment. Carlisle says. For that reason it is an especially poor business for the "in-and-out."
